THE LION OF 1943

Published by the SENIOR CLASS of
RED LION HIGH SCHOOL

Red Lion, Pennsylvania
VOLUME XVII

Foreword

The Lion of 1943 wishes to portray a picture of the functioning of our High School during an "all out" war. May it serve as a pictorial review of those who participated in its work. As those in the armed forces serve our country on the battle fields of the land, sea, and air, we on the home front are striving to help them insure the Four Freedoms.

School Personnel

A glimpse of the faculty, student body, and board of education working in harmony preparing youth for service

School Activities

Many and varied are the activities of our school trying ever to be of more service than teaching the 3 R's

School Athletics

Diversified sports: both boys' and girls', for relaxation and the building of strong bodies for the mind

School Feature

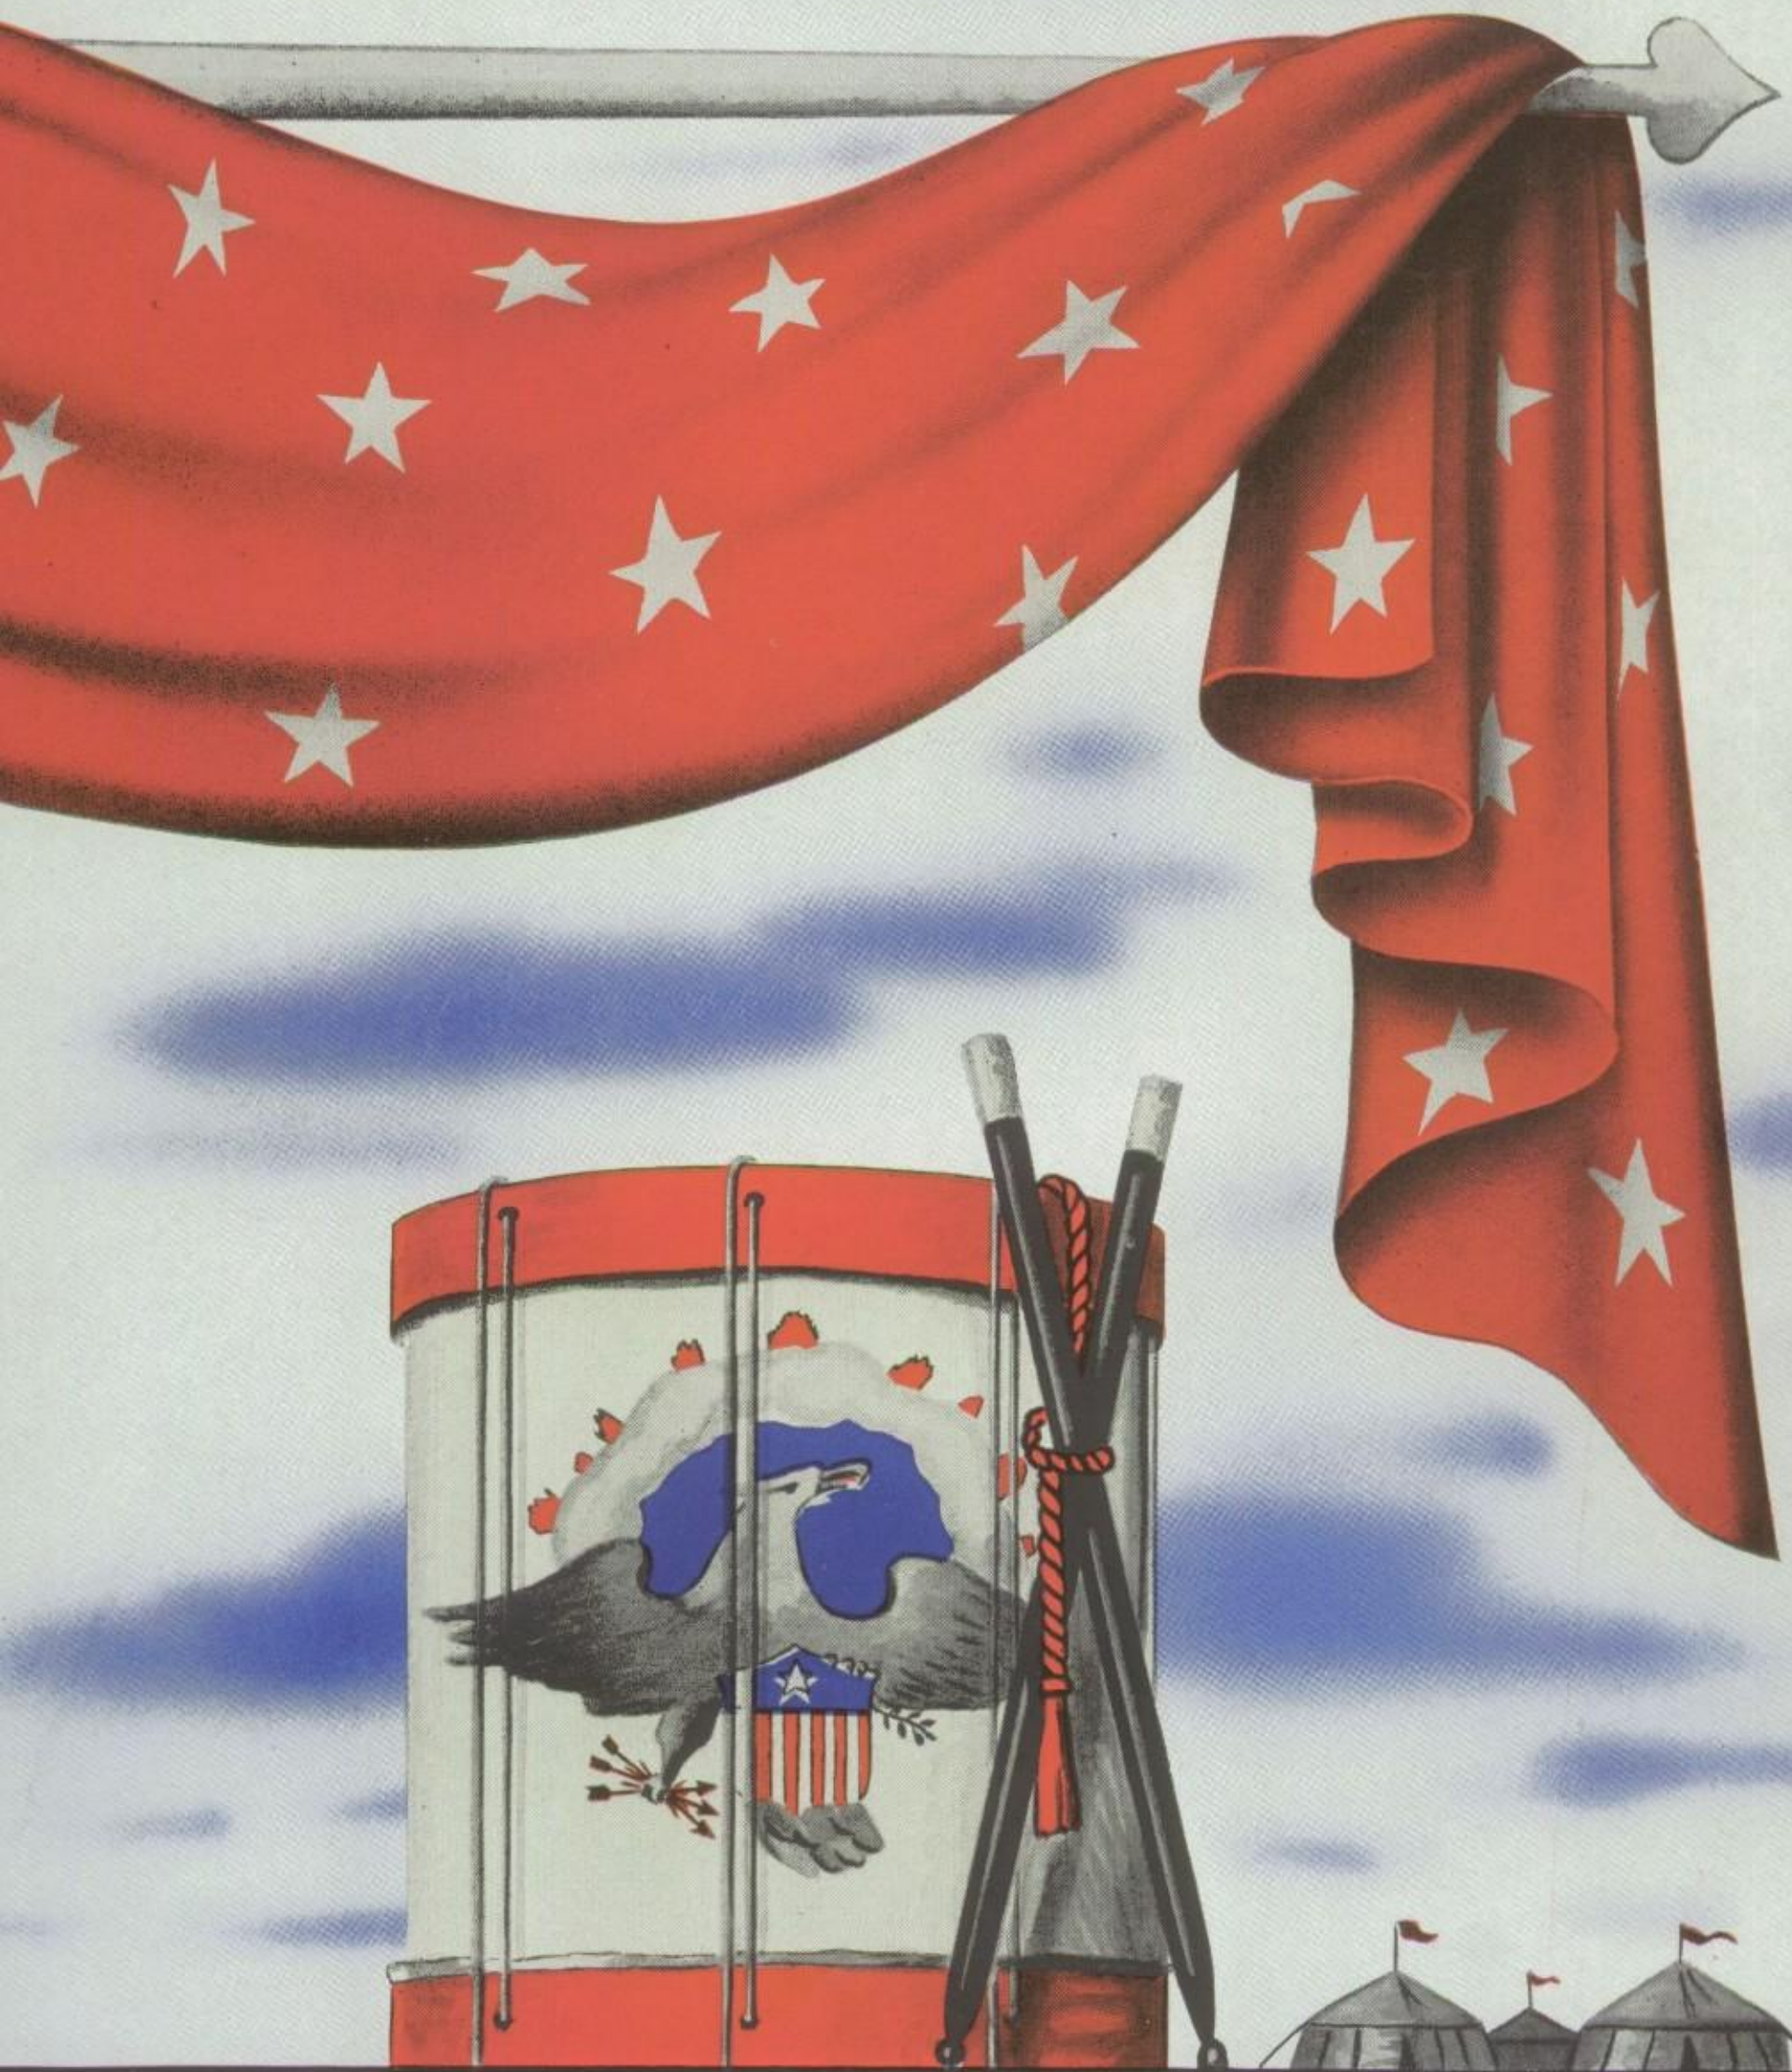

Social events, odd moments spiced with fun, sometimes at one's own, but more often at others' expense, caught by the camera in unguarded moments

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Devotes Time and Energy to the Progress of Youth

The thoughtful guidance of the policies of our school is the prime consideration of the Board of Education in all of their decisions. Employing competent instructors, furnishing adequate supplies, maintaining buildings, providing sufficient fuel and financing all of these needs, require foresight and careful planning. To these citizens of our community who give unstintedly of their time for our welfare, we give thanks.

With the success of the Christmas Dance, the Junior Play, and the Junior-Senior Prom, their first responsible enterprises, the Juniors showed their capability and initiative to carry a project through successfully. The class statistics show that their talents for music, both vocal and instrumental, their athletic ability, and journalistic prowess is by no means to be underrated. The Senior Class is convinced that the class to whom they throw the gauntlet will uphold the standards and traditions of our Alma Mater.

The maze of senior high activities has also caught the Sophomores in its wake, and they have begun to win recognition for their class. Both boys and girls have participated in athletics. The band, orchestra, and glee club are well represented by the musically talented members of the class. Having discovered their literary talent in assemblies, they are forging ahead to attain success in the dramatic productions of the future. May the class take a prominent place in the work of the school.

What a grand and glorious feeling to be "freshies"—the aristocrats of the junior high school. Both freshman boys and girls showed that they had plenty of pluck in the field of sports, having participated in football, basketball, volleyball, and tennequoit.

The music conscious joined the orchestra, band, and glee club. Throughout the year the talented actors and actresses showed their abilities to the appreciative assembly audiences. With such a good beginning, these folks look forward to the time when they become sophisticated sophomores.

Every activity of junior high school had on the roster some of these ambitious young folks. The band had the old faithfuls of the preceding year, plus those who had mastered the intricacies of the instruments during the summer months. Learning the whys and wherefores of various games during Gym periods, they prepared themselves for intra-mural competition as freshmen.

What a thrill to be in the seventh grade. Domestic science, shop, going to gymnastics, attending athletic and dramatic events, makes one feel a part of the busy pulsating high school life. The thrill of appearing on the program in assembly, being a member of an athletic team, going to the main library for reference work is a ne'er forgotten experience.

Out of the hustle and bustle that exists every Monday and Wednesday morning in Room 8, emerges our up-to-the-minute school newspaper. Journalism—the greatest single factor in world affairs today, stands out just as prominently in high school life. Red Lion High School has long been aware of this fact, and has recognized journalism in its curriculum.

During the twenty-first year of annual publication, the Hilltop had for its co-editors, Nancy Emig and Harold Grim. Assisted by their able advisor Miss Mary Farlling, they calmly directed the literary end of the paper. News, editorials, short stories, features, sports, and interviews, filled the four pages.

The business staff industriously canvassed the advertisers and circulated the printed editions.

DRAMATICS

Dramatic Coaches.....MARY FARLLING, CLIFFORD GUNNETT,
DOROTHY BOWERS, MARIE KEEPORIS

The Senior Class made its debut February 5, 6, 7, 1942, with the presentation of the three act comedy, "Don't Take My Penny." The fascinating plot centered about the young girl, "Penny Pringle," portrayed by Helen Breneman, and Robert Martin as "Kerry Harper." Many were the laughs and cheers as the audience listened to Penny's dreams of Hollywood. These reveries caused many problems and predicaments for her friends, but finally everything was settled and there was a perfect ending for a perfect day.

The following year on November 19, 20, 21, the class again proved its ability by producing a timely play, "American Passport." The theme depicted a modern American home with all the problems of the average father who suddenly realizes his children are not good Americans, but definite "Leftists." Changing the radical viewpoints of his offspring is the father's patriotic problem. Mr. Hamilton, characterized by Harold Grim, becomes infuriated when his shallow-minded wife Bertha, portrayed by Gladys Flinchbaugh, circulates a petition to keep American boys from going to war. The father realizes he has been standing idle while his own children are helping to undermine Democracy. He revolts, and in a rousing speech lets his family and his neighbors know just what he thinks of radicals and communists. After having made a stirring speech, Mr. Hamilton is nominated for Congress and his family returns to the fold of real Americans.

CHEER LEADERS

The success of our athletic program is in no small part due to the inspiring, stimulating cheers of the student body keeping up the spirit of the team, urging more effort in a tight pinch, and encouragement in the face of defeat. That's the spirit of American youth, as portrayed by these cheerleaders. To be able to lead and inspire others, cooperation and body agility are necessary requirements for cheerleaders.

Everybody loves a parade, especially when led by a colorful band and even more spectacular baton twirling drum majorettes with whom they vie for the attention of the spectators. AVIATION

Aviation in High School has been the result of a demand by the boys of the Senior Class for elementary knowledge in aviation. Those who successfully pass this work are given examinations to qualify for flight training without further ground instructions. A visit to the class room any morning will hear discussion on air foils, dynamic lift, zero angle of attack, etc., demonstration of model planes in the wind tunnel, experiments with the venturi tube and mathematical problems foreign to any except aviators. With an early start such as these boys are getting, they should go a long way in aviation.

CHARLES R. NITCHKEY.....Head Coach
 HARRY A. HUMPHREYS.....Asst. Coach
 N. EUGENE SHOEMAKER.....Asst. Coach

The march of time brings all the sports appropriate to the season. Included are football, volleyball, paddle handball, basketball, swimming, skating, hiking, track, tennis, baseball, tennequoit, mushball.

This well-rounded health program develops the full vigor of youth in the student.

CHARLES R. NITCHKEY
Physical Education Director

Even before the summoning bell for school put an end to our summer vacation the grid men began to "loosen-up" for the oncoming season.

At the beginning of the season we were fearful because we had lost several "stars" through graduation. However, with the dependable players of former years—R. Burke, Clewell, Craley, Goldman, Howard, Miller, Ritz, Smeltzer, Snyder, Stump, Tschop, Wagon, and two newcomers, Rexroth and Stine—it was plainly seen there would be a prosperous season in the offing.

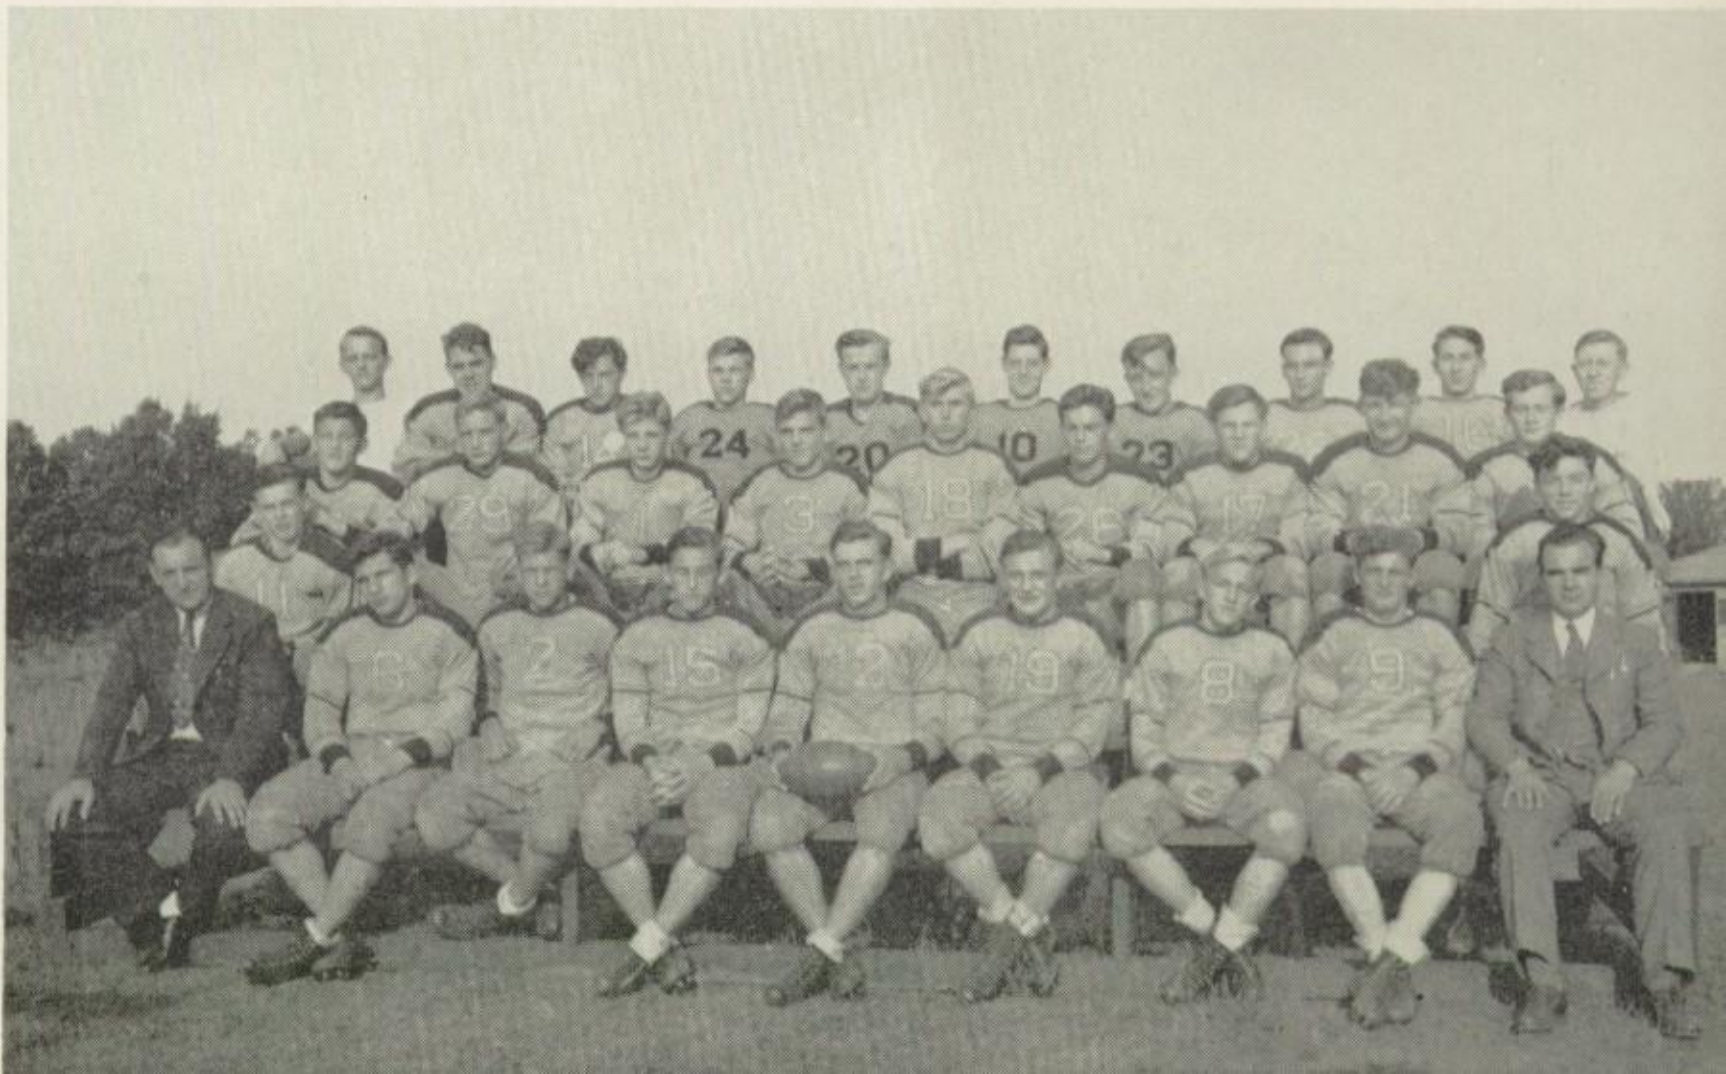

We opened the season with Lemoyne handing us a 15-0 setback. Nevertheless, undaunted, we accumulated enough "A stamps" to play the York High Reserves on their own field. Here "Lady Luck" brought us victory and she remained with us as we triumphed over Elizabethtown and Biglerville. Our next engagement was with Ephrata, and the contest proved quite exciting as the game came to a close with our opponents gaining the victory by one point. The tables were reversed, however, when we were successful at York Catholic. This victory was soon offset when New Cumberland gave us our third and last defeat of the season. Our successful season ended when we overwhelmingly defeated our old rival West York.

Feature, the portrayal of the more intimate less known side of school life, always holds both pupils and teachers in suspense waiting for the release of the first copies. What a relief to know that they didn't get that picture after all.

PART
FOUR

GEORGE ALWOOD—"Bud" beats the intricate rhythms on the calf-skin, and is always in the midst of all musical and social affairs, besides being always ready for an argument.

RALPH HENRY—Ralph, the short fellow you see in the halls with a G. I. haircut and red cheeks, walks to Cape Horn every morning and night. Try his formula.

Baseball	3, 4
Intra-Mural Sports	1, 2, 3, 4

DONALD HIVNER—"Don" in school, but "Hip" in Windsor, can usually be found tearing around the Windsor's Main Diner, wearing a white apron taking orders for hamburgs. He is slick as an eel on the basketball floor and his pasttimes are sleeping and fishing.

Intra-Mural Sports	1, 2, 3, 4
"Don't Take My Penny"	3

DORIS HIVNER—Doris, seldom heard in class, quiet, rather bashful, always ready for a good time, has most of her interests at F. & M. college. To be a "Stenog" is her ambition.

Girl Reserves	1, 2
Glee Club	4
Home Room Officer	1, 2, 3, 4

CAROLINE HOFFMAN—"Carrie," a speedy typist who has a smile for everyone, a good sense of humor, and a pleasing personality, is fond of sports and is an accomplished accordion player.

PALMA HOLTZINGER—"Pam," the mathematician, hopes to make use of her ability keeping her family budget. Her ambition at present, however, is to become a good nurse.

Intra-Mural Sports	1, 2, 3, 4
G. A. A.	2, 3, 4

DONALD HOWARD—"Red," Windsor's pride and joy, has made quite a name for himself in Red Lion. Excelling in sports, he has become quite popular. "Cokie" is his other attraction.

Football	1, 2, 3, 4
Basketball	1, 2, 3
Baseball	1, 2, 3
National Athletic Honor Society	2, 3, 4

EILEEN KAUFFMAN—Although always prepared, "Leanie" often finds that she has worked in vain. She acquires her daily exercise by walking two miles to the bus and by chewing gum.

Girl Reserves	1, 2

RUTH KAUFFMAN—When you hear the by-word "fish," Ruth is in the "gang." With her winsome ways she has made many friends. Her desires are many and varied.
